

Task Description for User Tests:

Imagine you work in a tech company. Your company is currently developing new software for organising work processes. You are the team leader of the design team for this software. You use the Moodtracker app to keep a better eye on the satisfaction and mood of your employees.

In the app, the team leader can create forms that every member of the team should answer anonymously on a regular basis. The team leader then receives the results and can act accordingly.

Your task is now as follows:

1. Go to the main screen, where you can see an overview of all teams.
2. Create a new team.
3. Go back to the main screen.
4. Go to the overview of the design team.
5. Create a new form for the design team.
6. Confirm the form and submit it.

After you have finished the tasks, please answer our user survey.
